

NOTES:

DETERMA Rx™

A test to predict risk of lung cancer recurrence

References

1. Detterbeck, et al. (2017) The eighth edition lung cancer stage classification. CHEST 151:193-203
2. Woodard, et al. (2018) Adjuvant chemotherapy guided by molecular profiling and improved outcomes in early stage, non-small cell lung cancer. Clin Lung Cancer 19:58-64
3. Kratz, et al. (2012) A practical molecular assay to predict survival in resected non-squamous, non-small cell lung cancer: development and international studies. Lancet 379:823-32
4. Kratz, et al. (2012) A prognostic assay to identify patients at high risk of mortality despite small, node-negative lung tumors. JAMA 308:1629-31

What is DetermaRx?

Every cancer is unique

DetermaRx is a test ordered by your doctor to provide more information about your individual lung cancer. The test analyzes the genes in your tumor to classify your cancer as having a low-, intermediate-, or high-risk of returning. Together, you and your doctor can use this information to design a treatment plan that is personalized to you.

Surgery is not always enough

Even after surgical removal of early-stage lung cancer, it is thought that cancer will return for 30-50% of patients.¹ DetermaRx provides a means of assessing how likely it is that your cancer will come back after surgery. The test has been validated in multiple studies to identify patients with stage I-IIA non-squamous non-small cell lung cancer that are at higher risk for disease recurrence and therefore most likely to benefit from adjuvant chemotherapy.²⁻⁴

My Doctor Ordered DetermaRx. What's next?

After your surgery, a sample of your tumor will be sent to Oncocyte's certified laboratory.

Results will be sent to your doctor about two weeks after our lab receives your sample.

Your doctor will review your results with you during a post-surgery follow-up visit.

Does insurance cover the cost of DetermaRx?

We accept many forms of insurance, and there are no out-of-pocket costs for patients with Medicare. If you have another form of insurance, we will bill your insurance provider directly for the cost of the test. Your insurer may pay for all or a portion of the test costs, depending on your specific plan.

We are committed to making DetermaRx accessible and affordable for all. We offer a Patient Assistance Program and interest-free payment plans to help cover or defray the cost of the test for qualifying patients.

Our billing specialists are here to assist you at: 1-844-ONCOCYTE
(1-844-662-6298)

